

The Wisconsin No-Call list is currently working as it was designed to prevent unwanted calls. These calls can include those from financial institutions that I have chosen to no longer do business with. If I so desire to once again do business with them I can do that on my own. The business has no right to contact me after our legally binding obligations are completed.